NEW YORK STATE DEPARTMENT OF LAW
BUREAU OF INVESTOR PROTECTION & SECURITIES
TWO WORLD TRADE CENTER, NEW YORK, NEW YORK

-----X
In the Matter : of :
the Franchise Application of : Decision GREAT BEAR AUTO CENTERS, INC. :
and :
ROBERT DiBERNARDO. :
Respondents. :

On September 21, 1981, Great Bear Auto Centers, Inc. (Great Bear) presented an offering prospectus to the New York State Department of Law, Bureau of Investor Protection and Securities (the Department). The Department accepted the prospectus for registration on November 24, 1981. Sometime prior to December 15, 1981, the Department learned that an individual bearing the same name as the president/director of Great Bear, Robert DiBernardo, had been convicted in June, 1981 of conspiracy with regard to the interstate transportation of obscene matter (felony). On December 5, 1981, the Department wrote to Great Bear seeking information as to whether the convicted Robert DiBernardo was the same Robert DiBernardo who was the president/director of Great Bear. No immediate reply to the inquiry was forthcoming. Eventually, after further inquiry and proceedings by the Department, on or about April 30, 1981, Great Bear filed an amended prospectus admitting the felony conviction of its president/director, Robert DiBernardo.

In response, on May 13, 1982, the Department mailed Great Bear a letter setting forth various deficiencies in the amended prospectus, advising, among other things, that the conviction was inadequately described. This letter also "reminded that the offer and sale of Great Bear franchises is prohibited during the course of the amendment application and until it is accepted for filing." The amendment was resubmitted with an acceptable description of the conviction and a subsequent resubmission corrected other deficiencies.

On June 28, 1982, the Department advised Great Bear that pursuant to General Business Law § 683(7)(e), a report and recommendation had been filed against it, after investigation, because a person described in the amended franchise application "has been convicted of a felony and his involvement in the sale or management of the franchise creates an unreasonable risk to prospective franchisees." More specifically, the report recited that Robert DiBernardo, president/director of Great Bear, had been found guilty of the crimes of interstate transportation and sale of obscene matters and conspiracy to commit these crimes (18 U.S.C. 1462, 1465 and 371). The report charged that DiBernardo's involvement in the sale or management of the franchise creates an unreasonable risk to prospective franchisees because the illegal sale of obscene materials is a crime of moral turpitude and an individual guilty of such a crime would not be bound by moral and legal constraints in his commercial dealings. The report further charged tht DiBernardo is active in organized crime and is a member of the Carlo Gambino family. Finally, the report stated that the franchise prospectus submitted by Great Bear reveals certain omissions which are consistent with the view that DiBernardo's participation in the franchise is a risk. The recommendation was that the amended prospectus be denied registration.

New York General Business Law § 683(7)(e) provides in relevant part:

"... A refusal to register an offering prospectus and notification thereof shall be forthcoming if the department finds:

(e) That a person identified in the application has been convicted of an offense described in subparagraph one of paragraph (e) of subdivision two of this section ... and the department determines that the involvement of the person in the sale or management of the franchise creates an unreasonable risk to prospective franchisees."

Section 683(2)(e)(1) requires a statement in the offering prospectus as to whether the franchisor and its principals, officers, or directors

"(1) Has been convicted of a felony or pleaded nolo contendere to a felony charge, or held liable or enjoined in a civil action by a final judgment if such civil action involved fraud, embezzlement, fraudulent conversion or misappropriation of property."

It is undisputed that Robert DiBernardo is the president/director and sole shareholder of Great Bear, that he was tried in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida on various felony counts of an indictment, that in June, 1981, a jury found him guilty on six counts of the indictment, and that on December 7, 1981, he received a total sentence of five years, a $10,000 fine and five years probation to commence upon completion of the period of confinement and $2,500 fine to be paid at the direction of the United States Probation Office.

After careful consideration of the credible evidence before me, it is my judgment that the amended prospectus should not be registered since the Department met its burden of establishing that DiBernardo's involvement in the sale or management of the franchise creates an unreasonable risk to prospective franchisees. The Department proved that DiBernardo, the president/director and sole shareholder of Great Bear, in preparing and registering the original and amended prospectus of Great Bear knowingly and deliberately concealed from the public, relevant, required and material information. Moreover, DiBernardo's felony conviction like his conduct in regard to the preparation of the prospectus, demonstrated the lack of honesty and trustworthiness required by New York law of the president/director and sole shareholder of a franchisor. In addition, the Department established that DiBernardo's participation is an unreasonable risk because of his ties to organized crime. As argued by the Department, it is obvious that a franchisor's involvement with organized crime is a threat to arm's length business transactions and that a franchisee cannot respond in a normal fashion to a franchisor who is tied to organized crime.

The Deliberate Concealment and Lack of Trustworthiness

Notwithstanding the clear requirements of General Business Law § 683 that an offering prospectus not knowingly omit any material fact or contain any untrue statement of a material fact, Robert DiBernardo, president/director and sole shareholder of Great Bear and admittedly responsible for its day to day operations and the general supervision of all of its activities, filed an offering prospectus for Great Bear in September 1981 with the Department which failed to disclose the June, 1981 jury verdict against him in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida and, worse, made an affirmative statement in the prospectus designed to leave a reader with the distinct impression that he had never been convicted of a felony.

While DiBernardo argued that the guilty verdict did not become a conviction within the disclosure requirement of General Business Law § 683(2)(e)(1) until he was sentenced on December 7, 1981, the record before me conclusively demonstrated that he took no immediate steps to amend the Great Bear offering prospectus to reflect the federal obscenity conviction even after he was sentenced and the conviction was called to his attention by the Department. Indeed, no amended prospectus was forthcoming until May 3, 1982, after the Department had initiated investigatory proceedings in regard to the conviction.

In addition to DiBernardo's failure to promptly amend the Great Bear prospectus to reflect the felony conviction, at the very least, after his sentencing, the proof before me further showed that DiBernardo deliberately evaded the statutory requirement that the offering prospectus disclose "such information concerning the identity and business experience of persons affiliated with the franchisor as the Department of Law may by rule prescribe." General Business Law § 683(2)(d). Section 200.4(c)(2) of the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Law require the following:

(2) IDENTITY AND BUSINESS EXPERIENCE OF PERSON AFFILIATED WITH THE FRANCHISOR;
FRANCHISE SALES AGENTS: List by name and position held the directors, trustees and/or general partners, as the case may be, the principal officers (including the chief executive and chief operating officer, financial, franchise marketing, training and service officers) and other executives or subfranchisors who will have management responsibility in connection with the operation of the franchisor's business relating to the franchises offered by this offering prospectus and all franchise sales agents. With regard to each person listed, state his other principal occupations and employers during the past five years. (emphasis supplied).

The evidence before me firmly established that Robert DiBernardo, through a network of corporations and partnerships, is, at the very least, a major distributor of pornographic materials, and that, in addition to operating Great Bear, was principally occupied or employed in this business for many years. He utterly failed to disclose this occupation or employment in the Great Bear prospectus in flagrant disregard of the specific requirements of the statutory scheme and the Department regulations. This breach of the disclosure requirements, moreover, was further evidenced by DiBernardo's failure to set forth his pornography business interests in a franchise sales agent statement dated September 14, 1981 and submitted to the Department. While not required to complete this form in view of his position as president/director of Great Bear, General Business Law § 681(8), it is, nonetheless, significant that in response to a direction on the form that he list his employment or occupation during the past five years, he omitted any reference to the pornography business in which he was very actively engaged and listed Great Bear Automotive Centers, Inc. as his sole employer.

Other evidence in the record in regard to the registration of the offering prospectus supports the finding that DiBernardo's involvement in the sale or management of the Great Bear franchise constitutes an unreasonable risk to potential franchisees.

On April 28, 1982, in a letter to the Department, DiBernardo claimed that Great Bear had filed an amendment to their offering prospectus on or about March 12, 1982. Yet, Samuel Brookoff, an accountant with the Bureau of Investor Protection and Securities of the Department, convincingly testified that no such amended prospectus had been received. Further, the original offering prospectus which listed Jack Kaplan as a director of Great Bear was never amended to show that Kaplan resigned as an officer of Great Bear on October 22, 1981. This was a significant change in management since he and DiBernardo were the only two operators of Great Bear and his resignation cut the executive staff in half.

In an effort to extricate himself from his failure to file a timely amendment setting forth his federal felony conviction while continuing to offer the Great Bear franchises for sale, DiBernardo obtained an affidavit from a franchisee, Benjamin Maniscalco, who had signed a contract for a franchise on February 10, 1982, subsequent to DiBernardo's sentencing. The affidavit recited that Maniscalco was aware of DiBernardo's felony conviction. Moreover, Maniscalco testified that DiBernardo had given him a letter disclosing the felony conviction at the time he was supplied with the prospectus although he was unable to produce the letter. I found Maniscalco's testimony unconvincing. It was confusing and evasive and, in regard to the affidavit, contradictory. At one point, he testified that he was given the affidavit by Great Bear, not DiBernardo, and later, that he received it from DiBernardo. The testimony left me with the clear impression that no letter had been delivered with the prospectus and that Maniscalco had executed the affidavit and was testifying about the letter at DiBernardo's request.

Finally, in regard to DiBernardo's trustworthiness and reliability as a businessman, it is significant, as the Department argued, that DiBernardo's felony conviction related to a business venture. Like his cavalier treatment of the prospectus requirements, DiBernardo's obscenity conviction bolsters the conclusion that he is an individual who, without compunction, sidesteps legal requirements for personal financial gain and that his participation in the Great Bear franchise renders its registration an unreasonable risk.

Organized Crime Connections

Bruce Ellavesky, an FBI agent, in sworn testimony at a Fatico hearing held in conjunction with DiBernardo's sentencing in Florida on the felony conviction, explained that there are twenty to twenty-five crime families in the country and that five of these families operate in New York City. Each family is generally constructed in the same manner. There is a boss at the top of each family. The second man in the leadership is an underboss and then there is a consigliere or counselor. Beneath these individuals are capos or captains and under the capos are soliders. An individual is a made man in an organized crime family if he has been initiated into membership. In addition to the family members, individuals who work with the families, but for one reason or another have not become made members, are categorized as associates of organized crime.

The Carlo Gambino family is one of the five families in New York City and Paul Castellano is currently the head of that family. Ellavesky met with Jimmey Fratianno, a former member of a Los Angeles crime family. He told Ellavesky that in 1977 DiBernardo became a made member of the Gambino family.

FBI Agent [redacted], another witness at the Fatico hearing, is the Gambino family coordinator in the New York City bureau office. In this capacity, he was advised by contacting FBI agents that four reliable informants or sources had advised the FBI that DiBernardo is a made member of the Carlo Gambino family, he is a big money earner in the field of pornography in New York, Miami, and other places throughout the United States, and he is given the privilege of reporting directly to Paul Castellano, the current Gambino family head.

FBI agent [redacted] also a witness at the Fatico hearing, works in the Los Angeles organized crime squad of the Bureau. An informant of known reliability advised him that DiBernardo was a member of the Gambino family and that he had a reputation for being a no-nonsense type of guy.

FBI agent [redacted] personally saw an automobile registered to Star Distributors (Star), one of DiBernardo's pornography companies, in the driveway of the Castellano home. FBI agent [redacted] also saw the Star automobile at the Castellano home. crime figures. [ ] a member of the Ft. Lauderdale police department doing undercover work in pornography, overheard DiBernardo's name mentioned during a meeting with a Florida pornographer who wanted to expand his operations to the east coast of Florida. DiBernardo's name came up several times and the pornographer was told to stay on the west coast of Florida.

[ ] of the New York City police department observed DiBernardo meeting with Mickey Zaffarano, a capo in the Galante Bonnano organized crime family, in the Star automobile on May 5, 1978. [ ] a New York City police detective, related another meeting between DiBernardo and Zaffarano on September 7, 1978, witnessed by members of the syndicated crime unit, in front of the Pussycat Theatre located at 1604 Broadway, New York City.

In sum, six independent FBI sources of known reliability confirmed that DiBernardo was a made man in the Carlo Gambino crime family. The details of the information supplied by these sources was independently verified by the direct personal observations of agents [ ] and officers [ ]. Moreover, other evidence in the record connected DiBernardo with known members of organized crime families. On this record, the Department established that DiBernardo was a made member of the Gambino family or, at the very least, a business associate of organized crime and, as such, an individual whose participation in the Great Bear franchise renders its registration unreasonable.

Conclusion

Pursuant to General Business Law § 683(7)(e), registration of the Great Bear amended prospectus is denied.

A 'Dealer' Settles Into Role of Investor and Developer

Hand of Philip Pilevsky, 38, Is Visible In Unusual Variety of Projects In City

By ALAN S. OSER

PHILIP PILEVSKY wants to obliterate his reputation as a flipper. He has become an investor and he is building a portfolio. This year, alone, he said, he has bought $400 million worth of property, and he may reach a billion dollars before the year ends. Or, conservatively, $800 million.

A flipper is a dealer who signs a contract to buy a property and sells the contract before he takes title to the property. Mr. Pilevsky, the 38-year-old president of Philips International Holding Company, freely concedes that he owes his current ability to invest millions of dollars of his own capital in his projects to successful flipping over the last 10 years. Now that he is settling into the role of investment owner, he is convinced that he is absorbing Manhattan commercial properties more rapidly than anyone in the business.

He is a prime example of an entrepreneur who has ridden the wave of rising values in the city, starting in 1974 with drive, a sense of values and an ability to draw in capital from wealthy acquaintances. Now he is coming into public view by virtue of his development activities, including the recently completed River Hotel on Christopher Street in the West Village, which he plans soon to expand, and the new 28-unit condominium in construction on the Avenue of the Americas between Waverly Place and Washington Place in Greenwich Village.

In dollar value of current purchases and in total assets held, many investors in the city are far larger than Philips International. Mr. Pilevsky said his average deal was for $10 million. His largest deal, the $40 million purchase of a 1.3-million-square-foot shopping mall called Palm Springs Mile in Hialeah, Fla., is still under contract.

But in terms of the number of deals he has done this year — 60, of which 33 are in Manhattan — Mr. Pilevsky has set an unusually rapid pace. Most of the properties are occupied commercial buildings, with a heavy component of retail space.

As a buyer he is "right up there with Sol Goldman if not surpassing him in 1983 and '84," said Sy Eshkenazi, vice president of the Standard Abstract Corporation, which keeps clients abreast of daily real-estate transactions in Manhattan. Mr. Goldman, now an independent investor after years of association with the late Alexander DiLorenzo, concentrates on acquisitions and conversions, but not new construction.

The Pilevsky strategy has been unusual. He started out as a land dealer in Florida. He had graduated from C.W. Post College in Brookville, L.I., in 1969, and soon went to Orlando, Fla. There he found he could resell land that had been mapped for development in the 1920's and was not subject to more stringent zoning requirements. A Cuban-American friend owned that land and gave Mr. Pilevsky a 20 percent interest in the project. After the sale he came away with $80,000.

Returning to New York in 1974, Mr. Pilevsky studied real estate at C.W. Post, obtained a broker's license, and joined a friend with experience in construction. Together they built 15 small shopping centers in Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island. Mr. Pilevsky's role was to buy the properties, arrange the financing and get the tenants.

In buying property, Mr. Pilevsky said, he has avoided "pyramiding" — that is, borrowing money secured by equity in one project to support the acquisition of another. Each of his projects is independent of the others.

In the early years, he said, he took an ownership position without putting his own cash into the deals, taking his profits either upon sale or refinancing. In 70 percent of his properties, he said, the investors have already recouped their initial outlay.

Many of his investors are friends and business acquaintances. In the case of a medical condominium at 30 Central Park South, his coventurer is the Bank of Kuwait. At the Endicott Hotel at 53 West 72d Street, which Mr. Pilevsky bought for $3.3 million at a private auction, his partner is Joseph Nakash, president of Jordache Fashions.

If there is a consistent thread in the Philips International investment approach it is the emphasis on properties with retail space in promising retail locations. "I know the value of retail space," said Mr. Pilevsky. "I buy good locations."

He will contract to buy office buildings or apartment houses with store rents that he considers below market, and promptly set about to strengthen retail rents. An example is the 330,000-square-foot office building at 417 Fifth Avenue, on the eastern blockfront from 37th to 38th Streets.

The former owner had five retail tenants in 20,000 square feet of space on leases that had short-term cancellation clauses. Mr. Pilevsky canceled the leases and rerented the space, he said, increasing retail rents to about $100 a square foot and raising total retail rents by about $1 million a year.

That made it possible to obtain at the closing a mortgage of $26 million for a property that was bought for $24 million, Mr. Pilevsky said. "I mortgage out at the closing in about half my deals," he said.

He said he had had one setback. He once signed a contract to buy a parking lot on East 47th Street, but later paid the seller $250,000 to cancel it when the city downzoned the land, making a planned redevelopment unfeasible.

The Pilevsky activities have included involvement in cooperative conversions. He has been the principal purchaser of buildings in Tudor City from Harry B. Helmsley for nonvacation conversions, usually done by a professional in the field, such as Francis Greenburger of Time Equities or John A. Zaccaro, the husband of the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, Geraldine A. Ferraro.

Altogether he is converting 1,000 housing units, he said, including 155 East 38th Street, 100 Park Terrace West in the Inwood section of Manhattan, 100, 110 and 120 DeHaven Drive in Yonkers and 91 Tulip Avenue in Floral Park, L.I.

Meanwhile, his construction activities are expanding. A gut conversion of a furniture warehouse on the southeast corner of First Avenue and 14th Street will create about 40 apartments and about 9,000 square feet of retail space. Beth Israel Hospital, on 16th Street and First Avenue, is expected to rent or buy the apartments for its personnel.

In the pipeline are a 30,000-square-foot shopping mall for high-fashion merchandise that will soon be built at the busy intersection of Sunrise Highway, Broadway and Peninsula Boulevard in Lynbrook, L.I.; the gut conversion of the old Royalton Hotel on 44th Street west of Fifth Avenue into a modern transient hotel with about 200 rooms, and an expansion of a 100,000-square-foot medical center called the Rockville Centre Medical Building in Rockville Centre, L.I. He also owns the former United Nations School at 51st Street and First Avenue, which he intended to convert into apartments but now believes he may sell.

The $24 million Greenwich Village condominium, for which James Stewart Polshek & Partners is the architect, is in a historic district. The final facade design has yet to be approved by the Landmarks Preservation Commission, but construction is nevertheless proceeding.

Mr. Pilevsky said he was prepared to build whatever facade design the landmarks panel and the architect agree upon. Meanwhile, he is looking forward to renting out 24,000 square feet of retail space at the street and below-grade, and selling condominiums at $450 and $550 a square foot.

"We are not giving anything away," he said.

Enclosed for New York are two trial subpoenas to be served on two New York City banks. Service by FBI is requested by MIAMI STRIKE FORCE in lieu of service by U.S. MARSHAL, as bank records are being subpoenaed, and most banks require a lengthy period of time to find them. As New York is aware, records are for time frame beginning in 1977 and ending 2/14/80, as this was the period of time the UC phase of the investigation was in effect.

For information of New York, the trial of D'APICE is set for 11/15/84, in Miami. As part of the MIPORN Undercover Operation, DEBERNARDO, [REDACTED] D'APICE were indicted together, however, during DEBERNARDO trial, D'APICE was severed. Consequently, the indictment of D'APICE was thrown out due to problems with a UCA, and D'APICE was reindicted. DEBERNARDO and [REDACTED] were convicted, however, will probably be granted a new trial by Judge EUGENE SPELLMAN, USDC, Southern District of Florida.

The prosecution of D'APICE as well as the re-trial of DEBERNARDO and [REDACTED] requires additional pre-trial investigation due to the absence of testimony from former [REDACTED] to ensure conviction.

Re Atlanta teletype to the Bureau dated 1/30/84 and Buairtel to Atlanta dated 3/22/85.

Investigation has shown that much of the informant information reflected in reteletype was exaggeration, especially regarding the opening of 56 bookstores in Texas. Likewise, the direct involvement of the LCN in controlling the porno stores in Atlanta was never corroborated. To the contrary, information was developed that [redacted] was known to exaggerate when talking about his contacts in the business and he was known to be a heavy user of cocaine during the latter phase of his bookstore operation in Atlanta.

It is noted that Fulton County, GA, (Atlanta) authorities succeeded in closing the 4 or 5 stores [ ] had opened in Atlanta by making purchases of materials at each store, convicting the clerk and the corporation of obscenity violations and seeking heavy fines from the court. Inasmuch as the fines were not paid, the authorities then levied against the property of the corporation, including the physical plant of each bookstore, and thus literally put the stores out of business.

[ ] is currently on appeal bond after his conviction in state court. Both [ ] have been interviewed by a Bureau Agent re the operation of [ ] stores. They were convicted in state court and pledged their cooperation for consideration in sentencing. [ ] advised that he and [ ] opened and operated the bookstores, but [ ] ordered the material. The main suppliers were from Cleveland, Ohio: MAGGORE and SOVERIGN NEWS for printed material and DIVERSIFIED INDUSTRIES for the video machines. According to [ ] relatively little came from STAR PUBLICATIONS in New York and what was ordered from STAR was "soft core" and frequently older material with new covers.

b7C

[ ] stated [ ] bragged about travelling to New York and meeting what [ ] termed "Mafia guys", but later events caused [ ] to strongly doubt this claim. He also described [ ] as a heavy cocaine user who was never available to assist in the defense of the Fulton County authorities' efforts to close [ ] stores.

b7C

In any case, [ ] stated that he knew of no dispute between suppliers and said he never heard of any guidelines which required [ ] or [ ] himself who runs his own store in Texas) to order from any particular supplier. He did have reason to believe [ ] had borrowed money from Cleveland because of the way the video machine receipts were handled.

b6

Atlanta would like the opportunity to interview [ ] but in view of the length of time his appeal has taken and due to the fact that he is represented by counsel at this time, the case has been placed in a pending inactive employee of [ ] and a big, fat red headed guy. According to [ ] was the partner of [ ] who is serving time for a child pornography conviction. Last November, when [ ] attempted to evict [ ] for his child pornography activity, [ ] and [ ] who manages [ ] book store came to see [ ]. They complained that if [ ] went through with the eviction [ ] would not receive any money from [ ] and [ ] would be out of work. [ ] relented and allowed [ ] to stay. [ ] insisted however, that the child pornography be removed from the store. [ ] insisted that he was not selling child pornography. However, under direction from [ ] broke into a locked closet at [ ] and found the room to be filled with child pornography magazines and films. Sometime after that [ ] removed the child pornography from the store in a van. A [ ] employee later verified that the contraband was removed.

[ ] further stated that when the transfer of property from him to the SHOWWORLD group is completed, [ ] will be kicked out. In [ ] words [ ] is a big spender that uses drugs, booze and broads and will probably be hungry for money. Therefore will probably try to sell the child pornography. He also believes that [ ] is involved in some low-level cocaine distribution.

In the area of major pornographic distributors [ ] stated that the biggest is RUEBEN STURNMAN of Cleveland, Ohio. STURNMAN has been buying up the copyrights of the smaller pornographic movie producers and then forcing all peep show operators to pay a $1,500.00 per year, per machine fee to use his copyrighted films. There are approximately ten (10) major producers and twenty (20) to thirty (30) smaller producers operating in California. That represents about 90% of all the pornographic movie producers in the country. There will be pornography conventions in Chicago and Las Vegas in January, 1985.

About eighteen (18) years ago [ ] started his peep show business with twelve (12) vintage machines. He eventually began buying additional machines from [ ] of Louisville, Kentucky, who was making them. [ ] would install the machines in stores and cut 50/50 with the owners of the stores. [ ] (phonetic), now a big California porno producer brought [ ] into the peep show business, and eventually organized crime began to lean on [ ]. [ ] contacted [ ] an associate of [ ]. [ ] introduced [ ] to [ ] (phonetic) and he introduced [ ] to [ ]. All through the late 1960's and early 1970's [ ] paid [ ] $1,500.00 per month to keep the organized crime guys away from [ ]. When [ ] parted with [ ] in early 1970's organized crime moved back in and [ ] peep show locations were reduced from twenty-six (26) to five (5).

Allegations received in captioned matter centered around the operation of STAR DISTRIBUTORS, 150 Lafayette Street, New York City, New York, and its various subsidiaries, which distributed pornographic materials into numerous states including the State of Maryland.

Extensive background investigation was conducted in this matter which failed to positively identify [redacted] as a member of an Organized Crime family. This investigation did, however, indicate that [redacted] was and continues to be closely associated with members of Organized Crime families in New York City, New York. The investigation included, but was not limited to a review of telephone toll call records relating to telephones subscribed to by [redacted] telephone toll call records of telephones at S&F ENTERPRISES, 303 West 42nd Street, New York City, New York, and telephone toll call records for those telephones accessible to [redacted] at [redacted], during her period of [redacted] A review of these telephone toll call records failed to disclose any significant information.

Additionally, a complete review was conducted of records seized pursuant to the execution of search and seizure warrants on 2/14/82, relative to the investigation of [redacted] of BON-JAY SALES, INC., 6601 Moravia Park Drive, Baltimore, Maryland. This review disclosed that [redacted] name and telephone number was listed in several telephone rolodex directories at BON-JAY SALES, INC., and that numerous invoices were located indicating a shipment of pornographic material from STAR DISTRIBUTORS, MODEL DISTRIBUTORS, and MEDIA DISTRIBUTORS, all of New York City, New York, BON-JAY SALES, INC., Baltimore, Maryland.

The investigation was climaxed by an interview of [redacted] at New York City, New York, and during this interview, [redacted] acknowledged ownership either in whole or in part of STAR DISTRIBUTORS, MEDIA DISTRIBUTORS, and MODEL DISTRIBUTORS, New York City, New York, and further acknowledged that these companies were engaged in the business of the sale and distribution of pornographic materials. During this interview, [redacted] stated that he was adamantly opposed to child pornography and vehemently denied his involvement in the sale of child pornography or his condoning the sale of child pornography by corporations under his control. Additional details of this interview are set forth for the New York Division in enclosed FD 302.

b7C

After a review of additional records and the further development of background information regarding [redacted] and his corporate entities, this matter was presented to Assistant United States Attorney [redacted] United States Attorney's Office, District of Maryland, on 5/24/83. After having been apprised of the above facts, AUSA [redacted] declined prosecution in this matter due to the United States Attorney's Office blanket declanation policy regarding interstate transportation of obscene materials, violations, and the lack of any indication that [redacted] or his companies were engaged in the sale or distribution of child pornography.

b7C

AUSA [redacted] decision was confirmed in writing by letter dated 6/3/83; however, Baltimore Division inadvertently failed to report the declanation of prosecution and the closing of this investigation to FBIHQ. In view of the above, FBIHQ should note that Baltimore has closed captioned investigation.

It was determined that "DB" would be awarded complete control of all of the cement business. It was further decided that WHITESTONE CEMENT, 35-10 College Point Boulevard, Flushing, would purchase the GRECO CEMENT COMPANY of Coney Island. WHITESTONE, which on paper at least, is owned by a LOU VALENTE, is fast becoming to the mob what SCARA-MIX was before PAUL CASTELLANO's death.

b7D

"DB" is known to make his appointments by using the telephone in his automobile. He usually makes his calls between noon and 3:00 PM each day. He only calls four or five guys and asks to see them. If they are not in, he will leave the message "tell em the guy from Stillwell Avenue called."

Things have calmed down since the DE CICCIO killing.
Very little is being said about it at all.

"DB" seems to be back into his normal routine. "DB" assumed control of much of the concrete work after the death of PAULIE CASTELLANO. SCARA-MIX, [redacted] and TRANSIT MIX concrete companies are all now controlled by "DB." JOHN GOTTI has control of WHITESTONE CONCRETE, and is purchasing GRECO CONCRETE.

"The Three Dollar Rule" applies in all concrete negotiations, that is, "DB," or GOTTI, or whomever is in control of the company receives $3.00 on each yard of concrete that is poured.

Subject : YMAC DISTRIBUTING

ITOM-LCN TARGET
OO: NY (BQ)

A review of file BQ 183A-2223, captioned: ROBERT DI BERNARDO; ROBERT MANCINI; JIM MILLWOOD-VICTIM; RICO (A); OO: NY (BQ), failed to reveal any reference to YMAC DISTRIBUTING.

This file (BQ 183A-2223) included copies of the phone directories of Di Bernardo and the address book of [redacted]. Both items were seized pursuant to a search warrant executed on 3/27/86 by U.S. Postal Inspectors at STAR DISTRIBUTORS, 418 Broome Street, NY, NY. DiBernardo, a Capo in the Gambino organized crime family, and [redacted] were partners in Star Distributors. A review of records in this file showed [redacted] doing business as Star Distributors, 150 Lafayette Street, New York, NY. As a result of the Postal Inspectors seizures, AUSA [redacted] SDNY, is attempting to indict DiBernardo on child pornography violations. Di Bernardo had previously been arrested in the Miami Miporn investigation, though his conviction was since been overturned. b6 b7C

The address book of [redacted] revealed the names/addresses of several companies known to be part of the Reuben Sturman Pornography Empire. These companies are owned/operated/controlled by Sturman and are included in 1985 tax evasion charges brought by the IRS against Sturman. Those listed include: Capitol News Co., Leisure Time Films, American Bookkeeping Co., Majestic News Co., New England News; Noble News, Sovereign News, Pacific News, Royal News, Now News, and Sundial.

A review of the September 1985 MAGLOCLEN (Mid Atlantic-Great Lakes Organized Crime Law Enforcement Network) report on the Reuben Sturman Pornography Empire failed to reveal any information on YMAC DISTRIBUTING.

Co-defendants and associates of Sturman mentioned in the MAGLOCLEN report whose names and addresses also appear in [redacted] address book include [redacted] b6 b7C

A computerized inquiry of OCIS failed to reveal any information on YMAC DISTRIBUTING.

'Miporn' case rejected by U.S. court

From Herald Staff and Wire Reports

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court refused Monday to hear an appeal by two men convicted of obscenity charges in a Miami-based investigation of the pornography industry.

The court, without comment, upheld an indictment of the two men, saying the charges were valid even though an FBI agent may have lied to the grand jury.

In 1977, the FBI began the so-called "Miporn" investigation of major publishers and distributors of pornographic films and magazines.

Relying largely on the testimony of undercover FBI agent Patrick Livingston, who posed as a dealer of adult materials in Miami, the grand jury in 1980 indicted 45 people, including Robert DiBernardo and Theodore Rothstein.

The two men, described as owners of KED Productions, which allegedly sold obscene films and videotapes to Livingston and another undercover agent, were convicted of conspiracy and interstate transportation of obscene materials. They were sentenced to five years in prison.

In February 1982, the FBI revealed that Livingston was arrested for shoplifting. There was evidence that he was mentally disturbed and was having difficulty telling the difference between his real and undercover identities.

Indictments dismissed

U.S. District Judge Eugene P. Spellman then threw out the convictions of DiBernardo and Rothstein and ordered the indictments against them dismissed on grounds that Livingston may have lied to the grand jury.

The judge also said the grand jury heard irrelevant evidence pertaining to mob control and violence in the pornography industry.

Citing Livingston's testimony, DiBernardo and Rothstein appealed their convictions to the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Last November, that court reinstated the indictment, saying it was valid. It was that decision the Supreme Court upheld on Monday.

Fred Schwartz and Marcella Cohen, who prosecuted the case for the U.S. Justice Department's Miami Strike Force, declined to comment Monday on the Supreme Court's ruling.

Judge has 2 choices

Under the court order, Spellman must either grant DiBernardo and Rothstein a new trial or reinstate the convictions because the indictment naming them is still valid.

"Absent proof of government misconduct, the fact that agent Livingston may have inadvertently given false testimony to the grand jury did not justify the dismissal of the indictment under the [trial judge's] supervisory power," the 11th Circuit court said.

"If certain evidence is properly before the grand jury, it is of no moment that it is irrelevant to the offense the grand jury eventually alleges in its indictment against the accused," the appeals court said.

On 4/14/86, [redacted] advised Special Agent [redacted] as follows:

JOHN GOTTI neither approved nor was he aware of the "hit" on FRANK DE CICCIO which occurred 4/13/86. The GOTTI brothers have put out the word that they want to know who is responsible by 6:00 P.M. tonight.

On 4/15/86, source advised [redacted] is quite shook up over the DE CICCIO killing. [redacted] believes it's possible JOHN GOTTI is next.

There was a meeting in Florida over the previous weekend which [redacted] attended. It's possible the decision was made then to get rid of GOTTI and DE CICCIO. There is much confusion now and no one is certain what happened. [redacted] and GOTTI go way back to when they were in prison together. Also, GOTTI made many decisions in favor of [redacted] recently. One of these decisions favored [redacted] over [redacted].

b7C

Source advised that none other than [redacted] had mentioned something along this line about a month ago. [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

Source advised that the "bosses" were to attend DE CICCIO's wake tonight.

Another individual greatly concerned over the shooting of FRANK DE CICCIO is "DB." DB is supposedly is in hiding or keeping low awaiting the outcome as to who actually did the hit. The latest rumor concerning the shooting indicates it was probably outsiders inasmuch as bombs were used; generally bombs are not allowed when somebody is being whacked.

On May 15, 1986, [ ] advised Special Agent

b7D

Any concrete job in Manhattan has to be approved by the "NEW YORK CITY CONCRETE CLUB." This club is actually the hierarchy of the GENOVESE and GAMBINO Families.

b7C

For example, a $35 million contract was awarded to construct a post office on West 27th Street and West Side Highway. The contract was given to [ ] of MARS CONSTRUCTION (MC) of New Rochelle. MC and [ ] are in the [ ] camp. "DB" who controls TRANSIT MIX (TM), which company is right across the street from the post office, had to be notified that another concrete company was handling the job. This is a matter of courtesy and, in fact, "DB" and other members of the GAMBINO and the GENOVESE Families get percentages of any jobs done in Manhattan no matter which company does the work.

b7C

Queens, Brooklyn, and Staten Island are open territories. "DB" controls TM, SCARA MIX, and FERRARA CEMENT. [ ] and his New Jersey crew control WHITESTONE CONCRETE (WC) and are attempting to get GRECO CONCRETE and PRINCIPE-DANNA (PD), Long Island City.

PD is [ ] by an old-timer, [ ] who is supposedly clean. [ ] wants to hold on to the land. The company will actually be run by LOU VALENTE, who runs WC.

b7C

Source described how contracts are gotten by the LA COSA NOSTRA connected construction companies. Usually an arrangement is made by an individual such as [ ] to have all of the elements, concrete, electrical, et cetera, to give an estimate strictly on their bottom line cost. The contractor will put together a package and go in and make a bid. Bidding at virtual cost, the contractor usually is assured of getting the contract.

Once the contract is awarded, the money is made by the overages and unbudgeted for costs. The client must, of course, pay whatever the contractor then demands regarding overages for overtime or materials that have increased in price. Once these overages are counted in, the profits are enormous and the kickbacks and payoffs are made to those who came in at cost.

Source advised that GAMBINO Capo ROBERT DI BERNARDO aka D.B. has had a serious falling out with Boss JOHN GOTTI, possibly over something to do with money and the bombing death of Underboss FRANK DE CICCIO. D.B. could face serious problems if this continues, especially if GOTTI is released from MCC before his August RICO trial.

Alleged Mobster Reported Missing

A Long Island man described by authorities as an organized-crime figure who is a major distributor of pornography has disappeared, according to Nassau County police.

Police said that on Saturday, they received a missing persons report from the daughter of Robert DiBernardo saying that family members last heard from DiBernardo June 5 when he telephoned and said he was on the way to his home in Hewlett Harbor, L.I.

He had plans to meet family members for dinner, said Det. Sgt. Eugene Flamm, commander of the Nassau County police missing person's squad. DiBernardo, 49, left his New York City office between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. that day, but never made it home, police said.

Police said DiBernardo's daughter, Lori Kunen, who filed the missing person report, told them that it was most unusual for her father not to be in daily contact with his family. Kunen could not be reached for comment.

Since 1968, DiBernardo has been a principal in Star Distributors Ltd., 150 Lafayette St., Manhattan. The company allegedly distributes pornography nationwide and allegedly has an interest in pornographic bookstores in New York and Philadelphia.

DiBernardo, who authorities say has been associated with both the Gambino and Simone DeCavalcante crime families, was convicted in Miami in June 1981 on charges of conspiracy and interstate transportation of obscene materials. At the time law enforcement officials called Star Distributors Ltd. the largest wholesaler of pornography on the east coast.

The charges result from a two-year FBI undercover investigation of the pornography industry dubbed "MIPORN," short for Miami Pornography. The sting operation resulted in raids on 30 film firms from New York to Hawaii in February, 1980, and the arrest of 53 persons.

The charges against DiBernardo were dismissed by a federal judge following the conviction, with the judge saying that the grand jury testimony of a key undercover agent was unreliable. The agent had developed psychiatric problems and according to the judge would lie even when the truth would serve him best. Because there was no evidence of perjury or government misconduct, the U.S. Court of Appeals reversed the dismissal in November and sent the case back to the district court. The status of the case could not be learned yesterday.

Reputed Mob Figure Missing

LI man, linked to porno distributorship, not seen since June 5

By Bill Van Haintze and Alvin E. Bessent

A Hewlett Harbor man, described by authorities as an organized-crime figure who is a major distributor of pornography, has disappeared, according to Nassau County police.

Police said that on Saturday they had received a missing persons report from the daughter of Robert DiBernardo. The report said that family members had last heard from DiBernardo June 5 when he telephoned and said he was coming home.

He had plans to meet family members and go out for dinner, said Det. Sgt. Eugene Flamm, commander of the police missing persons squad. DiBernardo, 49, left his New York City office between 2 and 3 p.m. that day, but never made it to the house at 1101 Harbor Rd., police said.

Police said the daughter, Lori Kunen, had told them that it was most unusual for her father not to be in daily contact with his family. Kunen could not be reached for comment.

Since 1968, DiBernardo has been a principal in Star Distributors Ltd., 150 Lafayette St., Manhattan. The company allegedly distributes pornography nationwide and has an interest in pornographic bookstores in New York and Philadelphia.

DiBernardo, who authorities say has been associated with both the Gambino and Simone DeCavalcante crime families, was convicted in Miami in June, 1981, on charges of conspiracy and interstate transportation of obscene materials. At the time, law enforcement officials called Star Distributors Ltd. the largest wholesaler of pornography on the East Coast.

The charges stemmed from a two-year FBI undercover investigation of the pornography industry dubbed "MIPORN," short for Miami Pornography. The sting operation resulted in raids on 30 film firms from New York to Hawaii in February, 1980, and the arrest of 53 persons. Michael Zaffarano, formerly of Wantagh and the reputed "king of porn," died of a heart attack in a 48th street office in Manhattan where he was hiding from the FBI raiders.

The charges against DiBernardo were dismissed by a federal judge following the conviction, with the judge saying that the grand jury testimony of a key undercover agent was unreliable. The agent had developed psychiatric problems and according to the judge would lie even when the truth would serve him best. But because there was no evidence of perjury or government misconduct, a federal appeals court reversed the dismissal in November and sent the case back to the district court. The status of the case could not be learned yesterday.

According to reports published in 1984, Star Distributors, Media Distributors and Bonate Inc. rented warehouse space in a building at 200 Lafayette St. that was managed by John Zaccaro, husband of then Democratic vice presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro. Law enforcement agencies have identified all three companies as pornography operations run by DiBernardo.

At the time, Zaccaro spokesman Francis O'Brien said that his clients didn't know how the building was being used. O'Brien said attorneys retained by Zaccaro to study the situation concluded that the tenant was complying with the terms of the lease and therefore could not be evicted.

Missing porn capo presumed murdered

By JERRY CAPECI

Daily News Staff Writer

A reputed Gambino mob capo who ran its lucrative interests in the porn industry is missing and presumed murdered by rival mobsters in a bloody internal feud.

Robert DiBernardo, 49, would be the fourth, high-ranking Gambino mobster to bite the dust in the upheaval that thrust John Gotti to the top of the crime family.

"We think he's dead," said a law enforcement official, who added: "Under Gotti the Gambinos seem more volatile than under Castellano."

Gotti's predecessor, Paul Castellano and his key aide, Thomas Bilotti, were executed outside a midtown restaurant last December.

Their killings were followed in April by the bombing death of Frank DeCicco, a close ally of Castellano who became Gotti's underboss.

DiBernardo never made it to his home in Hewlett Harbor, L.I., last week after leaving his office at Star Distributors on Broome St., and his children are "alarmed," said Nassau County Police Sgt. Eugene Flamm.

All four men were overheard on an FBI bug installed in Castellano's Staten Island home in 1983 and were targets of a federal grand jury investigation in Brooklyn, sources said.

DiBernardo was convicted in 1981 on federal pornography charges in Miami.

The Supreme Court upheld the conviction and DiBernardo was scheduled to appear in Miami next month to learn when he would begin serving a five-year prison term.

Two years ago DiBernardo's pornography business caused headaches for Democratic vice presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro when it was learned that her husband, John Zaccaro, was the landlord for one of DiBernardo's companies.
